Nixon, Romney Differing Widely On Vietnam War

DOVER, N.H. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is engaged in a sharp campaign dispute with Gov. George Romney of Michigan over American policy in Vietnam.

Nixon has taken a much harder line on the war.

"This is a war we cannot afford to lose," Nixon said in a speech, "for we are fighting in Vietnam not for Vietnam alone but for peace in the Pacific. It is this larger cause that makes it essential that our side prevail."

LBJ Restates Willingness To Talk Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson says despite the massive Communist offensive in South Vietnam he will halt bombing of the North, start peace talks tomorrow and let the enemy "write the agenda" — if Hanoi doesn't try a double-cross.

This was Johnson's off-the-cuff reaction Monday when 1 of 11 college student visitors at the White House argued that campus antiwar demonstrators "are not just the unwashed" but include brilliant young people.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski D-Ill., earlier told a Chicago audience a presidential emissary was in Hanoi to discuss a possible bombing halt and negotiations to end the war when Communists attacked the U.S. Embassy in Saigon last month.

Pucinski said: "As a matter of fact, the U.S. had to stop the bombing of Hanoi to assure safe passage for the emissary," whom he declined to name.

But he said the emissary was still in Hanoi "as far as we know and he may still be talking to the North Vietnamese."

The White House and State Department declined comment.

Johnson said he thought he understood youthful Vietnam dissenters—"none of us want to die"—but declared "we have gone just as far as decent and honorable people can go" to seek a Vietnam peace.

It was a spontaneous presidential performance — 75 minutes of it—in a White House sitting room. With five reporters watching and taking notes, Johnson opened himself to all questions and, in answering, paced, gesticulated, grimaced and orated with more emotion than is normal in his public appearances.

Despite the bloody fracture of the planned Tet truce, Johnson said of the Communists:

"We would meet them tomorrow. But we are not going to surrender. We are willing to reason. We are willing to talk. We are willing to let them write the agenda and say, 'Here are the first subjects you talk about.'"

White House officials made it clear later the United States would expect to cover its own preferred topics later in any negotiations.

But he added some qualifications inherent in his earlier utterances on the subject: Talks would have to be prompt, productive and—in effect, he addressed Hanoi directly—"you will not take advantage like you did in the Tet."

Marion Teachers Given Pay Raise

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Marion school board members approved pay raises ranging from $120 to $500 a year for city teachers Monday night.

Starting in September, teachers with bachelor's degrees will receive from $5,800 to $8,500 after 11 years. Master's degree teachers will receive $6,200 to $9,500 over 12 years.

battling Romney in New Hampshire where the first presidential primary will be held March 12. Only eight delegates are at stake, but politicians attach unusual psychological importance to the election.

More than 1,200 persons drove across icy, snow-rimmed roads Monday night to hear Nixon deliver the speech at Dover.

Romney, who spent part of last week in Wisconsin, plans to return to resume his campaigning in New Hampshire tonight.

By contrast to Nixon's position on Vietnam, Romney said recently, "We need to take the peace offensive and show we're not warmongers... if we continue down this road, it leads right to World War III."

Romney has twice challenged Nixon to a debate in New Hampshire, but Nixon refused on the ground that such a confrontation would not serve the interests of Republican unity.

Nixon fired off one of his strongest statements on the war in a speech in which he said: "The Pacific has ceased to be a barrier. It is now a link that joins America, intimately and inseparably, with the nations on its western rim. Their stability is essential to our own security, and their stability is at stake in Vietnam."

Nixon said that if the Communists win in Vietnam, their victory would be the "signal" for them to instigate similar wars elsewhere in Asia, Africa and Latin America. "It would powerfully reinforce the Peking hard liners, the 'hawks', in the internal Communist struggle," Nixon said.

Nixon's Dover audience filled the 900 seats in the high school auditorium. Two hundred persons listened from the cafeteria and about 100 or more clustered outside the entrances.

Think Deaths In Arkansas Were Natural

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Dr. Rodney F. Carlton, the pathologist who examined three skeletons found in unmarked graves at Cummins Prison Farm, said Monday he doubts that they are those of murder victims.

He said two of the skeletons "do not show any evidence of trauma or a violent death." He added that none of the skeletons showed any evidence of decapitation, amputation or mutilation.

Carlton said there were evidences of fractures on the third skeleton but added that he was "inclined to think that they were probably sustained after death."

Carlton said some of the fractures on the third skeleton are fresh. He said, however, that others are definitely older and are consistent with fractures due to blunt trauma.

"There are fractures that are older and make one suspicious that this was due to blunt trauma to the side of the skull," Carlton said. "However, this must be tempered with the knowledge that the fractures could have occurred several years after death due to 'caving in' of the grave."

As fighting continues on the north bank of the Perfume River, around the old citadel where emperors were once enthroned, the stricken city is beginning to bury its dead.

When the North Vietnamese virtually overran the city Jan. 31, its population was about 145,000. About 100,000 of these lived in suburban villages whose small stucco, tile and thatch houses escaped widespread devastation.

Rocky's Garbage Plan in Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — Balking Senate Republicans at the State Capitol have stalled action on emergency legislation to support Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's controversial settlement of New York City's nine-day garbage strike.

The GOP-controlled Senate postponed action on the governor's bill Monday night as many Republican lawmakers shied from the prospect of approving the plan to have the state temporarily take over the city sanitation department.

The delay marked the day's second setback for the Republican governor. Earlier the Democrat-dominated Assembly refused his request to make a personal appeal for the bill before a joint session of the legislature on the ground it "would be a big Rockefeller show."

After that rebuff, Rockefeller went on television seeking popular and legislative support for the settlement which has been bitterly assailed by his nationally-known fellow Republican, Mayor John V. Lindsay, and editorially attacked by many of the state's newspapers.

Danish Ship Lost Off U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — A Danish freighter loaded with 51 tons of explosives is missing in the Atlantic Ocean somewhere between the Azores and a U.S. Army post in Georgia, the Coast Guard said today.

The 163-foot Elsa Lindinger left San Miguel in the Azores Jan. 29 with a crew of seven. Its last radio message was received Feb. 6 when it reported it was 48 hours from its destination, the Army depot at St. Mary's, Ga., the Coast Guard said.

The freighter ran aground when it left Scotland last January and required repairs in Dublin. When it arrived in the Azores, it had engine trouble.

However, the other 45,000 lived within the two-mile-square Citadel on the north bank of the Perfume River and in a similar sized area on the south bank, a section of French-style villas and buildings and tree-lined streets.

These sections were badly battered, and about 30,000 of the residents are refugees, according to the province chief, Lt. Col. Pham Van Khoa.

Bodies are decaying all over the city. Many have been rotting for two weeks. The stench would have been unbearable, but the weather has been cold for the past two weeks, with a misty monsoon rain falling most of the time, turning the city a muddy gray.

Vance, Korean Leaders Extend Conference Agenda

SEOUL (AP) — U.S. presidential envoy Cyrus Vance met for almost three hours today with South Korea's premier and other top Cabinet ministers, but Korean sources reported they made "very little progress" toward eliminating differences between the United States and its Asian ally.

The meeting was "rough going," one Korean source reported. The conference ranged over problems of the complex crisis resulting from South Korea's worries over her defenses in the face of North Korean threats.

Vance planned another meeting with Premier Chung Il-kwon Wednesday and then was expected to pay his second visit to President Chung Hee Park. Whether that would be Vance's final conference nobody in authority would say, but the presidential envoy already has extended his visit one day, into Wednesday.

Korean sources said Vance and the Koreans agreed tentatively that the foreign and defense ministers of the two governments would meet annually to review mutual security problems, with the first meeting to be held in Washington in June. A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy would not comment on the report.

Informed sources also reported that the Koreans were asking the U.S. government to tell North Korea it will denounce the 1953 armistice agreement if the Communists send down any more raiders like the team that tried to assassinate President Park. The South Koreans also reportedly want the Americans to demand that North Korea apologize for the assassination attempt Jan. 21.

One informed Korean source said "very little progress" seemed to have been made toward healing the rift stemming from South Korean feelings that the United States, in its desire to secure the release of the USS Pueblo and its crew, is not paying sufficient attention to South Korean security.

Ohio Assembly Busy With Bond Issue, Other Items

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House called for a vote today on the administration's water management and pollution control bill while the Senate concerned itself with bridge safety and municipal income taxes.

At the same time, the House Finance Committee continued hearings on a $850 million bond issue for the May ballot. And both chambers were set to try to iron out differences on a pay equalization bill for most elected officials.

The heavy agenda was drawn up Monday night as the lawmakers returned from weekend recess for routine sessions that included a brief Senate speech by visiting Utah Gov. Calvin L. Rampton.

Initial witnesses as the House Finance Committee opened hearings on the bond issue proposal were Sen. Ralph S. Regula R-29 Stark, chief sponsor of the Senate-passed resolution, and State Finance Director Richard L. Krabach.

They explained provisions in the administration-backed proposal which would allocate $550 million for highways and $300 million for capital improvements and at the same time authorize the legislature to issue revenue bonds for state departments with fee revenues sufficient to retire them.

He was charged with picking up the girl on her way to school Friday morning, driving to a remote area in the country and assaulting her.

The girl was found wandering in a dazed condition and half clothed. She has been hospitalized since.

The U.S. Marines complained during the fighting—and some officers have reported officially—that South Vietnamese soldiers followed closely on the advancing Marines to loot. They could be seen in the streets with obviously stolen goods—radios, tape recorders, household goods and the like.

The Marines themselves were not blameless, though they were guilty of relatively little looting. Their destruction was often haphazard, and there was vandalism by some Marines tramping through homes looking for small souvenirs or working off pent-up emotions.

A low mist of smoke and haze films the city. It rises from fires and continuing explosions—the fire of American guns and incoming rounds from enemy rockets and mortars which still fall haphazardly.

Air Support For Marines Doesn't Appear

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is rushing about 10,500 additional Army and Marine ground combat troops to South Vietnam "for insurance purposes," the Defense Department announced today.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese Marines launched a ground assault against strong enemy forces inside the walled Citadel at Hue today, but heavy small-arms, machine-gun and rocket fire drove them back.

The North Vietnamese troops fought from gunpits burrowed deep inside the grimy black stone walls of the inner Citadel in the former imperial capital 400 miles northeast of Saigon.

AP photographer Al Chang reported from Hue that the sky had cleared after two weeks of monsoon rains, but no air support was flown for the Marines today. Air strikes had been flown against enemy positions in the Citadel Monday, and there was no immediate explanation why no planes were in the air today.

"Where the hell is our air support?" one Marine asked Chang bitterly after the costly, unsuccessful assault on the Citadel's inner walls. "We are being chopped up."

Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, is the last of 35 South Vietnamese cities and towns where Communist forces are still fighting as organized units two weeks after the start of their biggest offensive of the war. It has cost them, by government count, 32,245 men killed, or more than half of the 60,000 troops U.S. officers believe they committed to the offensive.

Four miles northwest of Hue, 300 communist troops clashed with infantrymen from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in a SAIGON (AP)—National Police said today one of the highest ranking North Vietnamese military officers in South Vietnam, Maj. Gen. Tran Do, was killed in Saigon recently. They produced pictures of what they said was his body.

The U.S. Embassy said Tran Do has been deputy commander of the political office of the Communist Central Committee for South Vietnam. American officials said he also has been identified in recently captured Viet Cong documents as the deputy commander in chief of the "Liberation Army of South Vietnam."

While Maj. Nguyen Dinh Lan, chief of the special staff of the national police, said the body, found at the western edge of Saigon, had been identified as that of Tran Do, other Vietnamese officials were not so sure. U.S. officials had no confirmation.

Official Blasts U.S. Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high official of the Johnson Administration, meeting privately with a group of newsmen, declared some criticism of the war in Vietnam gets close to the question, "Whose side are you on?"

The official advised newsmen to stop looking for "something to bitch about" and focus on the importance of winning the war. The official said the whole apparatus of press and broadcasting wouldn't amount to much unless the United States wins.

AP photographer Al Chang reported from Hue that the sky had cleared after two weeks of monsoon rains, but no air support was flown for the Marines today. Air strikes had been flown against enemy positions in the Citadel Monday, and there was no immediate explanation why no planes were in the air today.

"Where the hell is our air support?" one Marine asked Chang bitterly after the costly, unsuccessful assault on the Citadel's inner walls. "We are being chopped up."

Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, is the last of 35 South Vietnamese cities and towns where Communist forces are still fighting as organized units two weeks after the start of their biggest offensive of the war. It has cost them, by government count, 32,245 men killed, or more than half of the 60,000 troops U.S. officers believe they committed to the offensive.

Four miles northwest of Hue, 300 communist troops clashed with infantrymen from the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division in a SAIGON (AP)—National Police said today one of the highest ranking North Vietnamese military officers in South Vietnam, Maj. Gen. Tran Do, was killed in Saigon recently. They produced pictures of what they said was his body.

The U.S. Embassy said Tran Do has been deputy commander of the political office of the Communist Central Committee for South Vietnam. American officials said he also has been identified in recently captured Viet Cong documents as the deputy commander in chief of the "Liberation Army of South Vietnam."

While Maj. Nguyen Dinh Lan, chief of the special staff of the national police, said the body, found at the western edge of Saigon, had been identified as that of Tran Do, other Vietnamese officials were not so sure. U.S. officials had no confirmation.

Official Blasts U.S. Newsmen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A high official of the Johnson Administration, meeting privately with a group of newsmen, declared some criticism of the war in Vietnam gets close to the question, "Whose side are you on?"

The official advised newsmen to stop looking for "something to bitch about" and focus on the importance of winning the war. The official said the whole apparatus of press and broadcasting wouldn't amount to much unless the United States wins.

Hue Slowly Buries Dead from Red Attack

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — Hastily dug graves that sometimes are only haphazardly filled and shell holes in the streets scar Vietnam's ancient imperial capital, vivid wounds opened by the two-week battle which has wracked the city.

As fighting continues on the north bank of the Perfume River, around the old citadel where emperors were once enthroned, the stricken city is beginning to bury its dead.

When the North Vietnamese virtually overran the city Jan. 31, its population was about 145,000. About 100,000 of these lived in suburban villages whose small streets, tile and thatch houses escaped widespread devastation.

However, the other 45,000 lived within the two-mile-square Citadel on the north bank of the Perfume River and in a similar sized area on the south bank, a section of French-style villas and buildings and tree-lined streets.

These sections were badly battered, and about 30,000 of the residents are refugees, according to the province chief, Lt. Col. Pham Van Khoa.

Bodies are decaying all over the city. Many have been rotting for two weeks. The stench would have been unbearable, but the weather has been cold for the past two weeks, with a misty monsoon rain falling most of the time, turning the city a muddy gray.

The Communists' 122mm rockets and the Americans' eight-inch howitzers left four-foot-deep holes all over the city. Many now are being used for graves.

Nobody knows how many soldiers died in Hue's two-week tragedy, much less the number of civilians. The toll was certainly heavy, and leaden-faced civilians walk the streets and roam the refugee areas, asking for relatives and friends.

For the moment there is enough food. Perhaps 50,000 pounds of American rice has been distributed, and more is aboard U.S. Navy landing craft coming up the river, frequently fighting through nests of Red gunners hidden on the lush banks.

But there is no running water, no sewage disposal, no electricity and none of the normal city services. Three civilian doctors are the only Vietnamese physicians known to be working in the city.

Two wells at the university serve the 8,000 refugees there and are almost dry. Most people get their water from the murky river, filling pots, cooking oil cans or abandoned ammunition containers.

The most pitiful refugees are some 6,000 huddled in a narrow strip along the north bank of the river, surrounded by Communist forces and having only tenuous communication with the south bank, where life is slowly awakening.

A low mist of smoke and haze fills the city. It rises from fires and continuing explosions—the fire of American guns and incoming rounds from enemy rockets and mortars which still fall haphazardly.

Looting has been widespread, and undamaged houses have been sacked. Furniture, lamps, pictures, drinking glasses and pottery are dashed on floors and cabinets are ripped open and toppled.

The U.S. Marines complained during the fighting—and some officers have reported officially—that South Vietnamese soldiers followed closely on the advancing Marines to loot. They could be seen in the streets with obviously stolen goods—radios, tape recorders, household goods and the like.

The Marines themselves were not blameless, though they were guilty of relatively little looting. Their destruction was often haphazard, and there was vandalism by some Marines tramping through homes looking for small souvenirs or working off pent-up emotions.

Student Council Discussed

Elementary Supervisor Post Created by School Board

A student council, the prom, elementary school supervisor and a program to help disadvantaged children were among the subjects discussed by the Circleville Board of Education Monday night.

Guidance counselors from the high school presented their study on the advisability of a student council. The board decided to consider the subject for one more month and make its final decision at the March meeting.

The board approved a recommendation to permit guests invited by members of the junior or senior class to attend the prom after screening by the junior class adviser and the prom chairman.

The position of elementary school supervisor or director was created and approved by the board. The new supervisor, to begin in August, will be responsible for over-all elementary school curriculum, the general programs for the elementary schools and to work as a resource person for the school principals.

A PROGRAM for disadvantaged children, to be sponsored under a grant from the federal government, was accepted by board members.

The program will involve employing three half-time elementary school secretaries for the principals. The principals will then have more time free in which to do individual counseling with the disadvantaged, according to the board.

Four teacher aides, for larger classes, were also approved as part of this program. The aides are to do some of the more routine work, thus freeing the teachers to work with small groups of the disadvantaged.

A bid to convert the present heating system in the industrial arts-gymnasium wing of the junior high from coal to gas was awarded to H. C. Wear Inc., Columbus, at a cost of $5,679.

One section of portable bleachers were approved by the board for the new baseball field just east of the high school. The eight-row section of bleachers which will cost $258.44 is capable of seating 96 people.

Atwater Parent-Teacher Assn. will pay 50 per cent of the costs of several improvements at the Atwater school. The rest of the necessary funds will be provided under Title III.

THE improvements include drapes for two classrooms so that films may be used, science transparencies to supplement the science program, a set of World Books and a portable rack, one set of Child Craft Books and rack and two mobile tables for projectors.

The board considered and approved a procedure for determining class rank of students.

The final act of business by the board was the decision to pay persons being trained as bus drivers or substitute bus drivers at the rate of $3.25 a day.

Congressman Will Seek 2nd Term

Pickaway Countians To Vote in 15th Congressional District

CHALMERS WYLIE

Congressman Chalmers P. Wylie today expressed his pleasure in having Pickaway County added to the 15th Ohio District which he represents in Washington.

Since January, 1967, Wylie has represented the 15th District, which has included the western half of Franklin County. Under a recent court order for redistricting, Madison and Pickaway counties have been added.

While the districts will not be changed until Jan. 1, Pickaway County voters will cast their ballots in the new district in the 1968 primary and general election. Wylie will be a GOP candidate in the primary.

Last week Wylie made the first of what he plans to be many visits to make the acquaintance of Pickaway Countians.

"Pickaway County has had excellent representation in Congress by Representative William H. Harsha, and I know he regrets losing this part of his constituency. It will be my endeavor to give the same high quality of representation and service Pickaway Countians have received from Mr. Harsha," Wylie says.

Born in a rural home at Norwhich, Wylie attended Pataskala schools, later studying at Otterbein, Ohio State, and Harvard Law School. He worked during vacations on the farm and as a railroad "section hand" to help pay college expenses.

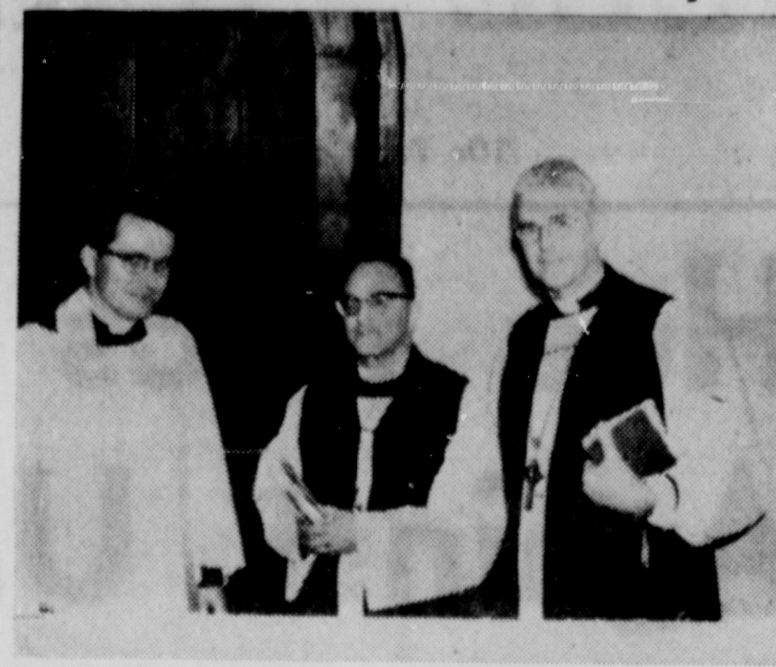

In World War II, he enlisted as a private in the Army and advanced to lieutenant. Service in five European campaigns brought him a silver star, purple heart and numerous other decorations for outstanding service. After the war he continued in the Army Reserve and advanced to the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Extensive public service leading to election to Congress has included experience as assistant city attorney and city attorney for Columbus, assistant attorney general for Ohio, administrator of the Ohio Bureau of Workmen's Compensation, first assistant to the Governor, three terms in the Ohio House of Representatives. In this last capacity, he was chairman of the General Assembly's Government Operations Committee, member of the Elections and Federal Relations Committee and the Reference Committee. He also has been president of the Ohio Municipal League.

Wylie is married to the former Marjorie Ann Siebold. They have two children — Jacqueline, 14, and Bradley, 8. They reside in Columbus. He is a partner in the law firm of Ginger and Christensen.

President Johnson recently signed a bill ending a 15 per cent duty on imported bagpipes and parts.

Primate of Brazil Attends Confirmation at St. Philips

BISHOPS AT CONFIRMATION — Two bishops were present Monday evening to participate in Episcopal confirmation services at St. Philip's Church. Taking part in the service were (left to right) the Rev. David Allardye, local pastor; the Right Rev. Roger Machado Kriskche, primate of the Episcopal Church in Brazil; and the Rt. Rev. Roger Blanchard, bishop of Southern Ohio.

The Rt. Rev. Roger Machado Kriskche, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in Brazil, participated in confirmation services Monday night at St. Philip's Episcopal Church.

The rite of confirmation was administered by the Rt. Rev. Roger W. Blanchard, bishop of Southern Ohio, with the Rev. David Allardye assisting. Bishop Kriskche presented the sermon.

Bishop Kriskche, spiritual head of the approximately 8,000 member Episcopal Church in Brazil, is in the United States to participate in the Mutual Responsibility and Interdependent Movement and to work in the Diocese of Southern Ohio, Brazil's "companion" diocese, to strengthen ties between the Episcopal churches of the two countries.

Confirmation followed a church dinner and discussion period presided over by Bishop Blanchard at which questions about the future of the Episcopal Church were raised.

Two adults and nine children were confirmed at the evening services. They were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald James, Margaret Stallings, Timothy Sines, Sheila Lanman, Cynthia Palm, Duane Howard, Vicki Payne, Philip Pike, Cynthia Pike and Sidney Johnston.

two-hour battle that left 30 enemy and five Americans dead. The communists were blasted into retreat as night fell by artillery and naval gunfire from offshore destroyers and cruisers. Thirty-nine American infantrymen were wounded.

Near Gio Linh, three miles below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 32 Communist troops. Government losses were five dead and 11 wounded.

In Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops continued to mop up the remnants of Communist forces who attacked the city Jan. 31. The allies reported killing 126 Viet Cong in a series of clashes within a 20-mile arc around the capital. American losses were 13 killed and 48 wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers joined the massive operation to wipe out Communist troops still entrenched around Saigon. The big Stratofortresses hit closer to Saigon than ever before, unloading tons of bombs on suspected Communist troop concentrations only seven miles north-north east of the capital.

The militantly antigovernment Buddhist movement centered in Hue was accused of collaborating with the invading Communists by Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, the provincial chief. Phan, who hid in a hospital attic during the Communist siege, said the large Tu Dam pagoda five miles northwest of the city was the Red command post for the attack. U.S. sources confirmed this.

Phan said the Communists inside Hue operated from the Dieu De pagoda and gave prominent roles to the Buddhist militants and sympathetic students at Hue University. U.S. officials were reluctant to back up Phan's points, although they reportedly have amassed impressive evidence to show the involvement of the Buddhist militants.

To the northwest around the embattled Marine outpost of Khe Sanh, an armada of U.S. warplanes including B52 heavy bombers continued to plaster suspected North Vietnamese buildup areas threatening the base.

No new ground attacks on Khe Sanh have been made since last Thursday, but incoming shells continue to kill or wound Marines daily. Six more Leathernecks were wounded Monday during a barrage of artillery, rockets and mortar.

Over North Vietnam Monday, a U.S. F4 Phantom jet fighter blew a Communist MIG21 interceptor from the sky north of Hanoi with an air-to-air missile, the U.S. Command announced. It was the 108th MIG kill in aerial combat over the North; 40 U.S. planes have been downed by MIGs.

The king of Sikkim, Chaygal Palden Thondup Namgyal, now has five children. Three were by his first wife who died some years ago.

CLINIC — Volunteer workers being briefed on the purpose and operation of the Early Detection Cancer Clinic being sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Berger Hospital.

Cancer Clinic Orientation Session Held

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic held its first orientation session for interested women volunteers at Berger Hospital Monday.

Mrs. David T. Hoffman, clinic chairman, welcomed all volunteers present and outlined the purpose and operation of the Cancer Clinic. Mrs. Hoffman informed the volunteers that the first clinic night would be held March 11, from 7-9 p. m. at Berger Hospital.

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic sponsored by the Pickaway County Unit, American Cancer Society, is designed to offer all Pickaway County women of low income families a pelvic examination, Pap Smear test, breast examination and instruction in self-breast examination. The Early Detection Cancer Clinic is scheduled on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

The second orientation session for any woman of Pickaway County who is willing to volunteer service to the newly created clinic will be held on Monday, February 26 at Berger Hospital.

On March 1 a "mailing session" will be held at the David T. Hoffman residence, 995 Lynwood at 10 a. m.

two-hour battle that left 30 enemy and five Americans dead. The communists were blasted into retreat as night fell by artillery and naval gunfire from offshore destroyers and cruisers. Thirty-nine American infantrymen were wounded.

Near Gio Linh, three miles below the eastern end of the demilitarized zone, South Vietnamese infantrymen reported killing 32 Communist troops. Government losses were five dead and 11 wounded.

In Saigon, U.S. and South Vietnamese troops continued to mop up the remnants of Communist forces who attacked the city Jan. 31. The allies reported killing 126 Viet Cong in a series of clashes within a 20-mile arc around the capital. American losses were 13 killed and 48 wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers joined the massive operation to wipe out Communist troops still entrenched around Saigon. The big Stratofortresses hit closer to Saigon than ever before, unloading tons of bombs on suspected Communist troop concentrations only seven miles north-north east of the capital.

The militantly antigovernment Buddhist movement centered in Hue was accused of collaborating with the invading Communists by Lt. Col. Phan Van Khoa, the provincial chief. Phan, who hid in a hospital attic during the Communist siege, said the large Tu Dam pagoda five miles northwest of the city was the Red command post for the attack. U.S. sources confirmed this.

Phan said the Communists inside Hue operated from the Dieu De pagoda and gave prominent roles to the Buddhist militants and sympathetic students at Hue University. U.S. officials were reluctant to back up Phan's points, although they reportedly have amassed impressive evidence to show the involvement of the Buddhist militants.

To the northwest around the embattled Marine outpost of Khe Sanh, an armada of U.S. warplanes including B52 heavy bombers continued to plaster suspected North Vietnamese buildup areas threatening the base.

No new ground attacks on Khe Sanh have been made since last Thursday, but incoming shells continue to kill or wound Marines daily. Six more Leathernecks were wounded Monday during a barrage of artillery, rockets and mortar.

Over North Vietnam Monday, a U.S. F4 Phantom jet fighter blew a Communist MIG21 interceptor from the sky north of Hanoi with an air-to-air missile, the U.S. Command announced. It was the 108th MIG kill in aerial combat over the North; 40 U.S. planes have been downed by MIGs.

Queen Hope Has Baby Daughter

CALCUTTA (AP) — Hope Cooke, American-born queen of the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Sikkim gave birth to a daughter at a Calcutta nursing home Monday night.

It was the 27-year-old queen's second child. Her first, a boy, was born Feb. 29, 1964. Mother and baby were progressing well.

The king of Sikkim, Chaygal Palden Thondup Namgyal, now has five children. Three were by his first wife who died some years ago.

CLINIC — Volunteer workers were briefed on the purpose and operation of the Early Detection Cancer Clinic being sponsored by the American Cancer Society at Berger Hospital.

Cancer Clinic
Orientation
Session Held

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic held its first orientation session for interested women volunteers at Berger Hospital Monday.

Mrs. David T. Hoffman, clinic chairman, welcomed all volunteers present and outlined the purpose and operation of the Cancer Clinic. Mrs. Hoffman informed the volunteers that the first clinic night would be held March 11, from 7-9 p. m. at Berger Hospital.

The Early Detection Cancer Clinic sponsored by the Pickaway County Unit, American Cancer Society, is designed to offer all Pickaway County women of low income families a pelvic examination, Pap Smear test, breast examination and instruction in self-breast examination. The Early Detection Cancer Clinic is scheduled on the second and fourth Monday of each month.

The second orientation session for any woman of Pickaway County who is willing to volunteer service to the newly created clinic will be held on Monday, February 26 at Berger Hospital. On March 1 a "mailing session" will be held at the David T. Hoffman residence, 995 Lynwood at 10 a. m.

$10,000 Suit
Filed in Court

Robert Calden, Columbus, has filed a damage suit in the amount of $10,000 in Pickaway Common Pleas Court against Fred Bryant of Lockbourne.

The petition alleges that Calden, the plaintiff, sustained painful and permanent injuries as a result of an automobile accident that occurred March 10, 1961 in Pickaway County.

The petition contends that Bryant's negligence caused the accident.

Rocky in Political Trouble Over Handling of Strike

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller may have improved his standing with organized labor by getting New York City's garbage picked up but Republicans generally think he has cooled party conservatives.

If a draft movement should arise for the New York governor, the conservatives conceivably could help Rockefeller get the GOP presidential nomination at the August convention. Labor support would be of little value to him there.

As matters stand, Rockefeller is so committed to supporting the candidacy of Michigan Gov. George Romney that even if Romney should falter in the primaries, the New Yorker's name is not likely to be on any popular vote ballot.

As a favorite son, Rockefeller would have a base of operations at the Miami Beach, Fla., convention with his state's 92 votes. He possibly could be the beneficiary of some write-in campaigns, particularly in Oregon.

But Rockefeller's chances for the nomination appear to rest primarily on what has been a general feeling among party members that he is the Republican with the best chance of defeating President Johnson.

This search for a winner has led many conservatives to tell themselves they may have to bend a little to get one. But they long have been distrustful of the New York governor's demonstrated liberal tendencies and how far they would go in excusing him for this always has been a matter of conjecture.

In a convention in which former Vice President Richard M. Nixon is likely to have solid strength, the New York governor's chances of winning the nomination would be decidedly slim unless some conservatives swung over to him.

But conservatives leaning toward Rockefeller have been given cause for second thoughts since the governor brushed aside a state antistrike law, arranged for release of a labor leader from jail to negotiate with him and approved a settlement of the garbage collectors' strike that Republican Mayor John V. Lindsay says smacks of submitting to blackmail.

In the process, Rockefeller's action in threatening to have the state take over the New York City Sanitation department was advertised by Lindsay as a plan that "corrupts the fundamental rights of the people of New York City."

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hope is a fine entertainer. The USO is an organization worthy of a benefit performance. The new Madison Square Garden is an impressive auditorium. The combination, however, did not add up to a very happy hour for television viewers tuned to NBC.

The problem, quite simply, was one of size and shape. Hope, with Bing Crosby and Pearl Bailey, performed on an enormous bare platform in the center of the vast place. While the microphones functioned satisfactorily, the visual part left much to be desired.

Hope and friends were before the cameras during the benefit Sunday night. The tape was edited to be broadcast less than 24 hours later. It was pretty ragged.

The comedian walked onto the stage with a lot of jokes about the city's strike of sanitation workers—which to New York were like Hope's smog jokes when he is in Los Angeles and his GI jokes when he is in Vietnam—more amusing to the folks on the scene than in other parts of the nation.

Bing Crosby and Hope predictably insulted each other with good humor—and some of the time their printed cue cards were highly visible to the TV audience.

Barbara Eden and some chorus boys had a song and dance number that was pretty difficult to handle—Miss Eden had to change costume in front of the audience since there was no place to hide.

Most awkward of all was the fact that all performers, trying to reach the live audience seated around them, circled the platform trailing microphone wires, like restless creatures on long leashes. Much of the time their backs were to the cameras.

The show concluded with a long and unfunny boxing match between Rocky Marciano and Hope—it never came off at all. Immediately following that special, Andy Williams popped onto the NBC screen presiding over an awards ceremony—the Golden Globes of the Hollywood Foreign Press Association—from the grand ballroom of a West Coast hotel. The facilities, while far from perfect, were a little better for television.

There were a large number of awards, and while handled in the classic manner of the Oscars, it went rather fast. Since most of the fun for the audience in an awards show is looking at the celebrities, it was a little disappointing that so few of the winners were present to pick up their trophies.

While most of the awards were for motion pictures and motion picture performances, the association members chose "Mission Impossible" as the most popular TV show of the year. Martin Landau of "Mission Impossible" and Carol Burnett were picked the most popular male and female stars of the medium.

Recommended tonight: "My Father and My Mother," CBS, 9:30-11 EST, original drama by Robert Creaan, with Ralph Bellamy and Jane Wyatt.

CINCINNATI (AP)—The head of the 700-member Cincinnati Teachers Union which struck the Cincinnati school system for four days earlier this month has warned that the strike may be resumed.

10 Ohio Men Killed in Viet War Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department released another lengthy list of recent casualties in the Vietnam war Monday. The Pentagon named 139 men killed in combat, 19 of them Ohioans.

Army men killed included 1st Lt. Donald J. Russin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Russin, Lorain, and Cpl. Paul J. Bachman, Wadsworth.

Ohio Marines killed in action were: Cpl. Robert L. Stanek, Galion; Lance Cpl. Michael D. Milburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Milburn, Elyria; Lance Cpl. John L. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle E. Murphy, Lorain.

Also, Lance Cpl. Gary L. Tallentire, Cincinnati; Pfc. Joe W. Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayden R. Greene, Canton; Pfc. Larry W. Kane, Ashland; Pfc. Edward E. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill R. Long, Mansfield; and Pfc. Paul M. Myers, Lorain.

Myers' widow lives at 1900 Tait St., Lorain.

Listed as missing or dead in combat were Army Sgt. Gary L. Gabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roman L. Gabel, Fremont, and Army Spec. 5 Robert J. Oates, Cincinnati.

Accord Near On Union Integration

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO construction unions and federal officials were reported close today to agreeing on a set of rules to admit more Negroes into the unions in an attempt to ease longstanding complaints of racial discrimination.

Sources indicated the proposed agreement would withhold tough government sanctions as long as the 18 building trades unions moved successfully on a voluntary basis to open their doors wider to Negroes and other minority groups.

"I think it looks pretty good," said Plumbers Union President Peter T. Schoemann of the chances for solving the issue, which has long been a sore point between Johnson administration officials and the politically powerful labor movement.

The construction unions have been the target of numerous racial bias charges from civil rights groups.

Light Docket At Muny Court

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb heard charges of traffic violations filed against three local and eight out-of-county motorists Friday.

Maurice Rood, 47, Lockbourne, forfeited a $9 fine set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Roger Burggraf, 27, of 1251 S. Pickaway St., pleaded guilty to charges of driving at an improper speed for conditions.

Curtis Scott Jr., 38, of 315 Mingo St., forfeited a $24 bond set on charges of failing to obey a stop sign.

The court collected $154 in fines and bond forfeitures from eight out-of-county motorists.

Services Held For Slain MPs

SAIGON (AP) — A religious service was held today for 27 U.S. Army military policemen killed Jan. 31 in fighting at the U.S. Embassy and in the streets of Saigon.

The service at a chapel of the U.S. Military Command honored members of the 716th Military Police Battalion who lost their lives.

They included Pfc. Danny L. Lasure, 20, Longview Heights, Ohio, and Pfc. James E. Walsh, 20, Dayton, Ohio.

They called the endorsement of the Minnesota Democrat's candidacy ill-considered and an unwarranted repudiation of President Johnson solely on the Vietnam war issue. McCarthy is running in opposition to Johnson's Vietnam policy.

In the Republican race, meanwhile, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon took a decidedly harder stand on the Vietnam war than Michigan Gov. George Romney and said "this is a war we cannot afford to lose."

The ADA resignations came Monday from I. W. Abel of the United Steelworkers Union, Louis Stulberg of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers of America.

The ADA board Saturday gave its nod to McCarthy by a 65-47 vote. It marked the first time in 20 years the organization declined to endorse an incumbent Democratic president.

Nixon strongly endorsed the American military effort in Vietnam as the "cork in the bottle" against a Communist takeover in Asia.

Romney, by contrast, has said: "We need to take the peace offensive and show we're not warmongers... If we continue down this road, it leads right to World War III."

In other political developments:

—Nebraska Secretary of State Frank Marsh promised a surprise that may focus national attention on the state Wednesday when he announces the presidential candidates who will be on Nebraska's all-star preferential primary ballot.

—Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said the country is suffering from "the demoralizing effects of deceptive and short-sighted leadership by the incumbent administration" and suggested a switch to Republican leadership is needed.

—Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., announced full refunds had been mailed to all contributors in the controversial drive to raise $100,000 for his office expenses. Percy earlier had said the drive was being misunderstood and called it off.

Labor Leaders, ADA Split Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The presidents of three major labor unions have quit the Americans for Democratic Action board over its endorsement of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's

Accord Near On Union Integration

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO construction unions and federal officials were reported close today to agreeing on a set of rules to admit more Negroes into the unions in an attempt to ease longstanding complaints of racial discrimination.

Sources indicated the proposed agreement would withhold tough government sanctions as long as the 18 building trades unions moved successfully on a voluntary basis to open their doors wider to Negroes and other minority groups.

"I think it looks pretty good," said Plumbers Union President Peter T. Schoemann of the chances for solving the issue, which has long been a sore point between Johnson administration officials and the politically powerful labor movement.

The construction unions have been the target of numerous racial bias charges from civil rights groups.

Light Docket At Muni Court

Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb heard charges of traffic violations filed against three local and eight out-of-county motorists Friday.

Maurice Rood, 47, Lockbourne, forfeited a $9 fine set on charges of speeding 70 miles in a 60 mile zone.

Roger Burggraf, 27, of 1251 S. Pickaway St., pleaded guilty to charges of driving at an improper speed for conditions.

Curtis Scott Jr., 38, of 315 Mingo St., forfeited a $24 bond set on charges of failing to obey a stop sign.

The court collected $154 in fines and bond forfeitures from eight out-of-county motorists.

Services Held For Slain MPs

SAIGON (AP) — A religious service was held today for 27 U.S. Army military policemen killed Jan. 31 in fighting at the U.S. Embassy and in the streets of Saigon.

The service at a chapel of the U.S. Military Command honored members of the 716th Military Police Battalion who lost their lives.

They included Pfc. Danny L. Lasure, 20, Longview Heights, Ohio, and Pfc. James E. Walsh, 20, Dayton, Ohio.

United Steelworkers Union, Louis Stulberg of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union and Joseph A. Beirne of the Communications Workers of America.

The ADA board Saturday gave its nod to McCarthy by a 65-47 vote. It marked the first time in 20 years the organization declined to endorse an incumbent Democratic president.

Nixon strongly endorsed the American military effort in Vietnam as the "cork in the bottle" against a Communist takeover in Asia.

Romney, by contrast, has said: "We need to take the peace offensive and show we're not warmongers. . . . If we continue down this road, it leads right to World War III."

All-Aluminum Ohio River Bridge Urged

POINT PLEASANT, W. VA. (AP)—A Huntington engineer proposed Monday night that an all-aluminum, double deck bridge be built to replace the Silver Bridge which collapsed in the Ohio River here in December.

Alfred F. Castanoli, a consulting mining engineer, also said he also would present it to state officials.

By using aluminum, he said, it would be half as heavy but six times stronger than the old bridge. He said it could be built in half the time it would take to build new piers for another type of bridge.

He estimated the cost of an aluminum bridge at $3,895,000.

Nebraska Secretary of State Frank Marsh promised a surprise that may focus national attention on the state Wednesday when he announces the presidential candidates who will be on Nebraska's all-star preferential primary ballot.

—Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said the country is suffering from "the demoralizing effects of deceptive and short-sighted leadership by the incumbent administration" and suggested a switch to Republican leadership is needed.

—Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., announced full refunds had been mailed to all contributors in the controversial drive to raise $100,000 for his office expenses. Percy earlier had said the drive was being misunderstood and called it off.

Senseless Killings

Examples of deterioration of the human mind are on the increase. In previous generations a single murder case was sufficient to excite the nation. Now murders of the most senseless and cruel type are routine in the daily news. Society is helpless against such twists of human character. Many brilliant minds are being devoted to a study of disordered mentalities, with little success.

Effective punishment may be impossible under a system of jurisprudence which seems to protect instead of punish the killer.

A Cold Trip

There's an old saying that there's no place on earth where you can really get away from it all.

If you find a nice secluded island, tourists, especially wealthy Americans, will soon find out about it and then inundate the place with their presence and money.

Antarctica — you say — it's safe! Well, it's not. Not any longer, that is. Just as recently as Jan. 22 it was invaded by a cruise ship (a cruise ship?) which now lists Antarctica on its regular itinerary.

The cruise ship went aground just a quarter of a mile from its McMurdo Sound Antarctica destination. Undaunted, passengers and crew had a whale of a party, with drinks to burn and no shortage of ice cubes.

The passengers could afford the unexpected blowout. The trip, 28 days, costs a minimum of $5,880. And that doesn't include tips.

A Success Story

How would you like to be a retired executive from an American company, enjoying the fruits of a long and dedicated business life, only to have someone ask you to go to the jungles of South America to put in what might be a 15-hour workday helping a fledgling manufacturing organization get off the ground?

And all at no pay — only reimbursement of expenses.

More than 700 such requests from 38 countries have been filled by American businessmen since 1965, under the auspices of the International Executive Service Corps. The corps, known variously as the businessmen's peace corps and the paunch corps, was designed as a helping hand to business enterprises in Africa, Asia, the Middle East and South America.

Corps files contain the names of thousands of volunteers — most retired — who are specialists in some field of commerce or manufacturing. When a request is received for a talent not readily available, hundreds of job counselors in the field search out the right man for the job.

"It's amazing what a man of his caliber can accomplish in so short a time," wrote the president of a Brazilian toy company after one of the corpsmen had spent a tour of duty with his firm.

Like Project Hope and other private adventures into the world of helping others, one of the most valuable assets of the IESC is that it never intrudes where it isn't wanted. It only responds by request.

Judging by the number of requests, now running close to 500 a year, this is a fundamental reason for the paunch corps' success.

THE CAPTAIN of the cruiser made a lamentably faulty maneuver within full sight of his admiral, and waited in dread for his well-deserved dressing down. To his relief, the admiral's prompt message read merely: "To Captain Cruiser. Good. Admiral Flagship." Five minutes later, however, this second communication reached him: "To Captain Cruiser. To previous message, please add the word 'God.' Admiral Flagship."

A new janitor's assistant at the main office of American Tel and Tel had a sure instinct for setting down his pail of sops at the exact spot where a big executive was sure to trip over it. When one of the vice presidents went sprawling onto the tiles for the second time in a week, he told the assistant disgustingly, "You have one thing in common with the president of this whole outfit." Wonderingly, the aspiring janitor-to-be answered, "I have? How so, sir?" "Both of you," snapped the V.P., "are just as high with this outfit as you're ever going to get."

A visitor to a New Mexico reservation noticed that every time a pretty girl anked by, one grizzled Indian puffed extra hard on his pipe and muttered, "Chance." "How come?" the visitor finally inquired. "I thought every Indian said 'How.' Why do you say 'Chance'?" To which the Indian replied succinctly, "Me know how. Just want chance."

Speaking of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Is the color or the dryness of the tongue a sign of some body disorder?

The condition and the appearance of the tongue has been a source of fascination to many people. The very first thing that they do on arising is to carefully inspect it and if they are satisfied with its appearance go their merry way with a feeling of well-being. If it is coated or dry, some people are certain that they should "feel awful" and that their health will correspond with its appearance.

Actually, the tongue is a most important index to the physician of a variety of conditions. A swollen tongue may be due to an allergy to drugs, mouth sinuses and to infection.

White patches, called leukoplakia, may be the result of chronic burning from a hot pipe. Rough edges of teeth and poorly fitting dentures may cause these white patches or ulceration of the tongue.

After severe illnesses or surgery the moisture of the tongue is a good sign of the fluid balance of the body. A very smooth tongue is seen frequently in pernicious anemia with an inadequate amount of B12 in the body, and in iron deficiency anemia.

Some acute infections, especially scarlet fever, are accompanied by red "strawberry" tongue. Allergy to antibiotics may cause ulcerations and gray patches over the tongue.

Fungus infections of the tongue are readily recognized. Thrush, especially in children, covers the tongue with a white, fluffy, cloud-like growth.

Paralysis of the muscles of the tongue have important meanings to the doctor. The tongue, both front and back, can be tested for sensitivity of taste. It is a most interesting phenomenon that a tiny nerve in the middle ear can affect taste in the back of the tongue.

There are some stomach and intestinal disorders that undoubtedly are responsible for the grayish discoloration of the tongue. To many, it may indicate the need for a cathartic.

A peculiar condition is sometimes seen in which there is a brownish-furlike spot on the top of the tongue. This has been attributed to antibiotics and to the excessive use of mouth washes that liberate a great deal of oxygen.

A condition known as geographic tongue has "mountainous ridges and valleys." Other than its unattractive appearance, it has no real medical importance. It usually is present at birth and in no way affects the general health.

A deficiency of riboflavin, a vitamin, sometimes causes a pretty magenta-colored tongue. This rapidly disappears with adequate treatment.

Typhoid fever, which is so rarely seen in the United States, can be diagnosed by the marked redness of the edges and the tip of the tongue.

It is apparent that the tongue really is a most important guide in health and disease. Yet it should not become a source of fear to those who become concerned about their tongue without a real knowledge of the truth. Your doctor can alleviate anxieties about its appearance.

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A government campaign against hippies is turning Argentine policemen into expert barbers.

At least 108 youths have been picked up by the police in raids in Buenos Aires recently. Dozens more were taken into custody at beach resorts.

Many of the boys had their hair trimmed before being released. One complained a policeman cut off his shoulder-length mane with blunt shears. Some charged the police beat them.

The government two-month-old antihippie drive, stems from two pet interests of the military regime of President Juan Carlos Onganía: morality and anticommunism.

The drive has not been admitted officially but a top official said privately: "By leading a promiscuous sexual life and leaning generally toward an extreme leftism, the hippies represent both a moral and a political danger."

The hippies say the charge is nonsense.

"We have a right to live as we choose," a bearded, 20-year-old boy said. "We don't bother anybody and all we ask is to be left alone."

"We may practice free love, but that's nobody's affair except for the people involved," he added. "As for politics, there are no more Communists among us than you would find in any group of young, rebellious people anywhere in the world."

The influential weekly news magazine Primera Plana said the campaign is "a paranoid witch hunt."

A hippie said police repression is backfiring. He said the hippie movement is spreading as a result.

"I don't think there were more than a few hundred of us in Buenos Aires some months ago," he said. "Now you count us by the thousands."

Long-haired boys in tight jeans and brightly colored shirts are now a common sight in Buenos Aires' fashionable shopping district, walking hand in hand with girls who often look like the boys — or the other way around.

The drive against hippies is the government's second morality campaign in one year.

Onganía, a religious, 53-year-old cavalry general, last year sent vice squads raiding lovers' lanes, parks and hotels and hauling couples into jail.

Fowler's Berlin Wall

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler is a dreamer if he thinks for one moment that the gimmicky plan to tax free-born American citizens on travel expenses in Europe and Asia will ever pass the U.S. Congress. Senators are already talking about Dr. Fowler and his Band-Aid prescriptions.

Surely the Fowler idea is the maddest infringement of personal liberty that has ever been proposed. Some people like to drink coffee, tea or cocoa some people like to travel. They all cost dollars that go for foreign exchange. Yet, arbitrarily, the Administration would permit the tea drinker his Ceylon or Oolong brew, but the traveler is to be penalized if he spends more than $7 a day in foreign living. The dollars that would be kept at home by making travel difficult might add up to $300 million a year. But the savings would be more than erased by the ill-will of foreigners who would quite properly resent the fall-off in tourist revenues caused by the new U. S. isolationism.

If Fowler has his way, cities like Seattle will suffer from the cancellation of foreign orders for jet aircraft: Pan American World Airways will lose money on its Inter-Continental; Hotels TWA's Hilton affiliate will have empty rooms; American travel agents will find they can't scrounge up a compensating surge of East-to-West French and Norwegian trippers organizations such as the American Field Service which sends students abroad will be severely hurt in their budgets by the five per cent air travel tax, and

President Charles de Gaulle of France, who is reportedly recovering from being run down by a motorboat (sic) while out walking, will be figuring out ways of hitting American exporters in revenge for what has been done to Montmartre night spots and restaurants on the Left Bank.

The dollar losses that would develop from foreign reprisals, however, would be less damaging than the damage done to the American psyche. Senator Vanet Hartke of Indiana put it forcefully the other day when he said that from the earliest days of the republic Americans have flexed their muscles, puffed out their chests, and sailed to the far places of the world. Indonesia was once known in Massachusetts as the "Salem Indies." Stephen Girard of Philadelphia wouldn't have gone into the banking business if he hadn't made money out of the China trade.

It was in the middle of the Indian Ocean that Sam Colt got his idea for the revolving cartridge chamber he happened to be watching the helmsman's wheel spin over and catch when a spoke came into line with the desired shift in the ship's direction.

The U.S., thanks to its "internationalists" of the Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt generations that nurtured President Lyndon Johnson and Secretary of the Treasury Fowler, has inherited a certain responsibility for the safety of the outside world. My own generation, which grew up in the inter-war period, always resented Walter Lippmann for insisting that the U.S. was the new

Rome, but, after World War II, we bowed to the newer realities of the intercontinental missile and the atom bomb (At this point Lippmann deserted us.)

It is indeed passing strange for the Administration to tell us at this late stage that Americans must refrain from learning about the outer world at the very time they are being asked to carry much of that world on their shoulders. Isolationism just won't mix with the development of Camranh Bay, or the need to keep a US fleet in the Mediterranean. If we can't travel in Europe and Asia, why bother to save them? Why bother to teach French and German in our schools? Why bother to put up billions for supersonic planes? Why have exchange programs?

It wasn't so many months ago that the President, in his Smithsonian speech, was expatiating on the desirability of expanding those cultural contacts with other countries. What has happened to this Lyndon Johnson? We have always derided nations which have tried to lock their people in. It would surely keep a computer going for weeks to count the sarcastic words written about the Berlin Wall, and the reliance of the Soviets on barbed wire. Yet now, in a slightly sophisticated form, we are proposing to build our own Berlin Wall.

I'm ashamed for my country, that's what I am. But, surely, Congress won't let Fowler's Folly become law.

They all cost dollars that go for foreign exchange. Yet, arbitrarily, the Administration would permit the tea drinker his Ceylon or Oolong brew, but the traveler is to be penalized if he spends more than $7 a day in foreign living. The dollars that would be kept at home by making travel difficult might add up to $300 million a year. But the savings would be more than erased by the ill-will of foreigners who would quite properly resent the fall-off in tourist revenues caused by the new U. S. isolationism.

If Fowler has his way, cities like Seattle will suffer from the cancellation of foreign orders for jet aircraft: Pan American World Airways will lose money on its Inter-Continental. Hotels TWA's Hilton affiliate will have empty rooms: American travel agents will find they can't scrounge up a compensating surge of East-to-West French and Norwegian trippers organizations such as the American Field Service which sends students abroad will be severely hurt in their budgets by the five per cent air travel tax, and

President Charles de Gaulle of France, who is reportedly recovering from being run down by a motorboat (sic) while out walking, will be figuring out ways of hitting American exporters in revenge for what has been done to Montmartre night spots and restaurants on the Left Bank.

The dollar losses that would develop from foreign reprisals, however, would be less damaging than the damage done to the American psyche. Senator Vance Hartke of Indiana put it forcefully the other day when he said that from the earliest days of the republic Americans have flexed their muscles, puffed out their chests, and sailed to the far places of the world. Indonesia was once known in Massachusetts as the "Salem Indies." Stephen Girard of Philadelphia wouldn't have gone into the banking business if he hadn't made money out of the China trade.

It was in the middle of the Indian Ocean that Sam Colt got his idea for the revolving cartridge chamber he happened to be watching the helmsman's wheel spin over and catch when a spoke came into line with the desired shift in the ship's direction.

The U.S., thanks to its "internationalists" of the Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt generations that nurtured President Lyndon Johnson and Secretary of the Treasury Fowler, has inherited a certain responsibility for the safety of the outside world. My own generation, which grew up in the inter-war period, always resented Walter Lippmann for insisting that the U.S. was the new

Rome, but, after World War II, we bowed to the newer realities of the intercontinental missile and the atom bomb (At this point Lippmann deserted us.)

It is indeed passing strange for the Administration to tell us at this late stage that Americans must refrain from learning about the outer-world at the very time they are being asked to carry much of that world on their shoulders. Isolationism just won't mix with the development of Camranh Bay, or the need to keep a US fleet in the Mediterranean. If we can't travel in Europe and Asia, why bother to save them? Why bother to teach French and German in our schools? Why bother to put up billions for supersonic planes? Why have exchange programs?

It wasn't so many months ago that the President, in his Smithsonian speech, was expatiating on the desirability of expanding those cultural contacts with other countries. What has happened to this Lyndon Johnson? We have always derided nations which have tried to lock their people in. It would surely keep a computer going for weeks to count the sarcastic words written about the Berlin Wall, and the reliance of the Soviets on barbed wire. Yet now, in a slightly sophisticated form, we are proposing to build our own Berlin Wall.

I'm ashamed for my country, that's what I am. But, surely, Congress won't let Fowler's folly become law.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Eligible Bachelor Just Much Too Much

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old bachelor who has a promising future in the investment business. Last summer I became acquainted with a lovely girl who is now a senior in college, and we've seen each other several times. (We are separated by 300 miles.)

Last month I wrote to her and proposed marriage. I did it in a very business like manner because I didn't want there to be any misunderstanding as to what I had to offer her in the way of security, and what I expected of a wife. For example:

(1) I expect to be served a HOT breakfast six days a week. (On Sundays, I would serve her.)

(2) No hired help until we have a child.

(3) We will have no less than four children.

(4) I shall handle all the money.

I know she received my letter as I sent it registered mail, but I have received no reply. Should I write to her again, or give her more time to think it over?

SAN FRANCISCO: DEAR SAN FRANCISCO: Surely, you jest? Perhaps the girl is so overwhelmed with your proposal of marriage that she's paralyzed by indecision—but don't bank on it.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "HAD IT," the second wife who resented her husband's "ex" calling him at home to discuss the problems she was having with their teen-aged children: I hope you are wise enough to take Abby's advice and remain silent and patient.

I am a second wife who had the same problem. I was blind-jealous and I became furious every time my husband's "ex" telephoned him at home to discuss the children and their problems. I finally put my foot down and told him I wanted no more of it. He promised there wouldn't be. And there wasn't.

Later on, when his 17-year-old daughter got into trouble with a boy, I blamed myself. Perhaps if the girl's mother had been able to confer with the father, that awful mess could have been prevented. I have regretted it ever since.

SORRY IN LEXINGTON: DEAR SORRY: Don't blame yourself. Had your husband been half a man, he'd have continued to make himself available to his "ex" to discuss their children's problems. Since you became furious when his "ex" telephoned him at home, he could have arranged to have received her calls elsewhere.

Whether the "awful mess" could have been prevented had the girl's parents continued to confer, is anybody's guess, but don't blame yourself because your husband abandoned his responsibilities as a father to appease a "blind-jealous" wife.

DEAR ABBY: I may have a helpful suggestion for that mother whose little 4-year-old boy has to wear an eye patch over one eye temporarily. She said the boy was constantly asked by strangers, "What's the matter with your eye, little boy?"

My son also had to wear an eye patch for the same reason. He had one "lazy" eye, which his doctor strengthened by covering the normal eye, thus forcing the "lazy" eye to work twice as hard.

Our boy, too, was bothered by inquisitive strangers, so we taught him to say, "O, it's just a little AMBLYOPIA." Of course, no one knew what it was and since they were ashamed to admit their ignorance, they just walked away, shaking their heads.

Chicago Police Map Plans To Handle Convention

By JOHN K. IGLEHART
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — With more than six months to go, Chicago police are mapping security plans for the Democratic National Convention, hoping for the best but preparing for the worst.

The momentous task of protecting the International Amphitheatre, a sprawling complex 50 blocks from downtown, will be complicated by the attendance of President Johnson and threats to disrupt the proceedings which begin Aug. 26.

The Secret Service, charged with protecting Johnson at all times, will oversee all security planning although Chicago's 12,000-man police department will provide the bulk of the manpower.

A ranking police official, who asked to remain anonymous, said the department will plan for the worst.

"We will be ready with ample manpower to meet any problem," he said. "When the president of the United States is involved you never have to beg for manpower. It's usually there when you don't even need it."

Despite its reticence, the department has disclosed what some of its preparations will be for containing any unruly crowds this summer.

The preparations include training in heavy weapons, gas devices and crowd control by members of the department's Task Force, a highly mobile unit of 600 men that is available for special assignments. Training also is planned for four more police helicopter pilots.

Secret Service men were here recently discussing, among other things, the physical arrangements of the convention amid reports that 1,000 federal agents will be on hand by the time the convention opens.

According to unconfirmed reports, the force would come from all sections of the nation and would be drawn from the FBI, the U.S. Marshall's office, the Internal Revenue Service and possibly the Coast Guard.

The FBI declined comment on the report. Police officials said they had not been advised of such plans.

Law enforcement officials held their initial planning session for the convention early in January, a few days after Dick Gregory, a Negro entertainer and civil rights activist, said he planned to disrupt the convention with "50 or 60 demonstrations in different directions at the same time to tie up the whole police department."

Mayor Richard J. Daley, the city's Democratic leader, set the tone for the police response to Gregory the day after the threat.

"We will permit people — we don't care who they are — to come to Chicago to carry on their right as Americans to petition and to demonstrate," he said. "but no one will take over our streets, our city or our convention."

The amphitheatre, which seats 13,500, is in an all-white area on the South Side. Although the seven-building complex has 300 doors and 4,000 windows, there are some security considerations in its favor. For example, anyone who wants to enter the building from the west side has to enter through gates of the stockyards from Halsted Street at the north end of the amphitheatre. If the police wanted to, they could close these iron gates. Or they could make a close check of those approaching the convention hall.

To reach the amphitheatre from the south, east or north in great numbers would be virtually impossible. The yards are a maze of cattle pens, railroad tracks and parking lots with no regular street patterns.

The 5,611 delegates and alternates could arrive at the amphitheatre by air, rail or motor vehicle. There are two helicopter landing pads on a roof adjoining the main arena. Special trains running on railroad tracks behind the convention hall could carry delegates into the area.

Democrats will headquarter downtown at the Conrad Hilton, the world's largest hotel with 2,900 rooms.

Teays Valley Future Nurses Aid Heart Fund

Teays Valley Future Nurses Club conducted its first Balloon Sale Day for the Pickaway County Heart Fund Saturday, in the Ashville area. The girls stated that even though the day was very cold weather-wise they were warmed by the support of the community.

Alona Hay was chairman for the sale, other club members aiding in the sale were Judy Schamehorn, Sylvia Sherertz, Charlene Cordle, Shelby Kitchen, Linda Adams, Darla Deffenbaugh, Sheila Clay and Edna Holland.

The Future Nurses Club is a service organization to the community. In the past they have helped with TB skin testing, Head Start Program at the Ashville Grade School, bake sales and aiding a needy family this past Christmas.

Future plans include a project to send needed items to men in Vietnam, planning a County FNC Meeting and improving the clinic at school.

The rural canvass for the Heart Fund begins this Sunday, and Heart Sunday is Feb. 25.

Golden Wedding Is Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hulse, Route 2, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary today (Tuesday).

A family dinner honoring the event was held Sunday in the home of Miss Ruth Hulse and Mrs. Gladys Hill, Route 2.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hulse, Cheryl and Dennis; Miss Carol Sauer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hulse and David; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hulse, Roxanne and Jodi; Miss Julia Russell, Paul Russell, Miss Katherine L. Meade, Mrs. Claude Wells, and Mark and Scott Hill of the home.

Barking Dogs Save Boy's Life

BAY CITY, Mich. (AP) — Barking dogs may have saved the life of Michael Trombley, 4, Monday after an accident that killed his mother and injured his father and sister.

Michael was thrown some 50 feet from the car, which rammed into another auto on a highway seven miles north of Bay City.

State troopers said they were unaware of the boy's presence until barking dogs from homes nearby led them to him. The weather was below zero.

A 1 ounce jar of red cinnamon candies makes about 14 cup. The candies are good to use with apples—baked, coddled or steamed. Usually the candies are melted in the sugar syrup to be used with the apples.

Teays Valley Future Nurses Aid Heart Fund

Teays Valley Future Nurses Club conducted its first Balloon Sale Day for the Pickaway County Heart Fund Saturday, in the Ashville area. The girls stated that even though the day was very cold weather-wise they were warmed by the support of the community.

Alona Hay was chairman for the sale, other club members aiding in the sale were Judy Schamehorn, Sylvia Sherertz, Charlene Cordle, Shelby Kitchen, Linda Adams, Darla Deffenbaugh, Sheila Clay and Edna Holland.

The Future Nurses Club is a service organization to the community. In the past they have helped with TB skin testing, Head Start Program at the Ashville Grade School, bake sales and aiding a needy family this past Christmas.

Future plans include a project to send needed items to men in Vietnam, planning a County FNC Meeting and improving the clinic at school.

The rural canvass for the Heart Fund begins this Sunday, and Heart Sunday is Feb. 25.

Golden Wedding Is Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hulse, Route 2, will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary today (Tuesday).

She explained the many policies and procedures exercised to help people find and follow the road for best results for all concerned. Considerable credit was given the many volunteer workers.

For roll call response, each member gave her preference for a job training program.

Mrs. Margaret Evans was in charge of the special "This Is Your Life" tribute for Mrs. Ward Cross and Mrs. Florence Baker, most recent entrants to the retired number. As a preface to this ceremony, Mrs. James Scott read, "Why I Teach," and Mrs. Dick Tootle presented "The Duties of a Teacher."

Mrs. Scott told of member cooperative endeavors for personal growth and services which would benefit Pickaway County youth delinquents.

Plans were made to send a contribution to World Fellowship Fund in honor of the local chapter. A volunteer offering was taken for CARE, Hope, and Meals for Millions.

Miss Amy Miga, president, announced that initial arrangements had been made for Kuldita Duangnetre of Thailand to be a guest for the May 6 meeting.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Joseph Peters. Mrs. Tootle and Mrs. Fred Engle were hostesses for the concluding social hour.

U.S. Hockey Team Tough Too Late

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — The much-maligned U.S. hockey team has sounded a grim warning to future opponents in the Winter Olympic Games.

"We are going to do some killing from here on," Coach Murray Williamson said after the United States had stormed to an 8-1 victory over West Germany Monday, the Americans' first victory after four straight losses.

"We needed a game like this," the young, Canadian-born coach said. "We are not giving anything to anyone. From here on in, look out for the United States."

But it came too late to make a great deal of difference, except for pride.

"If we'd started the tournament with this game, we'd be hanging tough," he said, almost wistfully.

As it is, it's impossible for the Americans to gain a medal. They're 1-4 with two games remaining in the round robin tournament. Russia, Czechoslovakia and Sweden are 4-0 with three games remaining. Canada is 3-1 with three games to go.

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A Big Ten examiner questioned the sports editor and a reporter of the University of Michigan student newspaper Monday at the outset of a probe into possible violations of conference rules by Michigan and Michigan State athletes.

"Right now we are trying to see how extensive our work is going to be," said John D. Dewey, Big Ten examiner and assistant commissioner.

It was the paper, the Michigan Daily, that brought on the probe by alleging that athletes at both schools were receiving free meals, discounts and other special privileges.

Last Friday, the paper carried a copyrighted story saying Michigan athletes were given free passes to Ann Arbor movie houses, free clothing at a haberdashery and discounts at one restaurant.

There followed Sunday a second copyrighted story alleging MS athletes received discounts at movie theaters, free meals in dormitory grills, charged long distance phone calls to coaches and had expenses paid for visits by their parents to the East Lansing campus.

Best hockey scorer in Michigan State history is Doug Roberts who scored 28 goals and 33 assists during the 1964-65 campaign.

By HAL PARIS Associated Press Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus East continues to hold a firm grip on first place in The Associated Press high school basketball poll, but there's a new leader today in the Class A rankings.

East, now 15-0 and bidding to wrap up its second consecutive unbeaten regular season campaign with a victory this weekend, garnered 232 points from the sports writers and sportscasters who vote.

The Tigers seem a cinch to lock up the top spot in next week's final poll as the state's schoolboy quintets head into sectional play.

Northwestern of Wayne County, running a close second to Southeastern of Ross all season, finally climbed into first place after the Panthers were upset by Logan Elm 63-61 last Friday.

Northwestern, 16-1, and two-time state champion, collected 135 points, some 14 more than unbeaten Western of Pike County, which sports a 19-0 record.

Is your water half-soft,
half-hard?

Many families on the tank-exchange plan really have half-soft, half-hard water.

This may be true in your home. Many tank exchange water softeners are connected only to hot water outlets. So, while the hot water tap delivers the benefits of soft water, the cold taps are completely hard.

This means stains under the cold water taps, stains in the tubs and toilets. It means that when you take a bath, you are bathing in half-soft, half-hard water. Worst of all, it means that when you and your daughters shampoo, your hair is stringy, dull and hard to manage.

Wouldn't you rather have a complete soft water system in both hot and cold taps for about the same as you now pay for tank-exchange?

The remarkable new Lindsay water softener is an automatic, completely modern unit that gives you all the soft water you want, out of both taps. Fully automatic means you never turn a valve, you never change a tank, and there's never a fuss or muss. Furthermore, the Lindsay is as beautiful as any appliance in your home!

The cost? You can usually rent or buy a Lindsay water softener for less than old-fashioned tank-exchange rental costs.

Please, make us prove this statement. Write, or phone. Take the first easy step toward getting rid of half-hard water in your home.

HOUSES FOR SALE

Choice location, allow your family to enjoy an ageless home.
It's exterior has charm and excellent close-in location. Interior has been enjoyed and appreciated. Living room with natural floors and w-burning fireplace, guest closet. French doors to roomy den and of course there's a bay window with window seat. 1/2 bath down, cozy, compact kitchen. Dining room that's family size. Full basement, excellent furnace keeps bills to a minimum. Shower, laundry room and workshop space. Three large bedrooms up with closets extra big. Large bath with nice fixtures and large linen closet. Enclosed sun porch up, more than suitable for another bedroom, or toy room. (If there's an artist in the family it's perfect). Outside stairway very suitable for duplexing, sometime in the future. Big back yard, fenced and nice block garage. New roof and house was painted last year.
Enclosed screened in porch that is more appreciated in summer than winter. This home open for inspection. Call for an appointment. Price is $16,000.00.

Georgia Beats Maravich, 78-73

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Pistol Pete Maravich gave it to Georgia with both guns but when the dust had cleared, the Bulldogs had survived a lot better than Louisiana State.

Maravich, the LSU sophomore who leads the country's collegiate basketball scorers, poured in 51 points against Georgia Monday night but the barrage couldn't overcome a balanced Bulldog attack that produced a 78-73 Southeastern Conference victory.

And while Maravich was shooting up Georgia, Baron Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats slipped into the SEC lead by edging Tennessee 60-59.

The eighth ranked Wildcats pulled it out in the final minutes with three sophomores—Mike Casey, Mike Pratt and Dan Isel—doing the bulk of the job. It was seventh-ranked Tennessee's second straight SEC loss and dropped the Vols one half game back of Kentucky.

Meanwhile, North Carolina, ranked third in The Associated Press poll, rolled to its 16th straight victory, beating North Carolina State 96-84.

Charlie Scott, another soph, poured in 34 points for the Tar Heels. Larry Miller had 24 and became the third highest scorer in NC history with 1,714. Eddie Biedenbach led the losers with 28.

Georgia had four players in double figures with Bob Lienhard's 28 points tops. Lienhard, a 6-foot-11 soph, hit 12 of 19 from the floor and four of nine free throws. Maravich connected on 20 of 47 field goals and was 11 for 18 from the foul line.

Casey, who led Kentucky's scorers with 17 points, put the Wildcats on top 58-57 with one minute left and Isel, who had 15, followed with another basket. Then the Wildcats held Tennessee off. Pratt, Rupp's other soph, finished with 15.

"What magnificent ball those lads played," exulted Rupp afterwards. "The fine thing about this game was that those boys didn't lose their poise at all."

In the Big Ten, Wisconsin's hot-shooting Badgers knocked off front running Ohio State 86-78 as Joe Franklin's 23 points led a balanced attack.

The loss cut OSU's lead to one-half game over idle Northwestern and Iowa. Wisconsin is fifth in the conference.

Henry Tyson scored 23 points, 18 of them in the first half as Dartmouth nipped Cornell 64-63 in an Ivy League game.

Texas-El Paso romped over Arizona State 87-69 as Andy White hit seven of his first eight shots. White finished with 21 points and Nate Archibald led the Miners with 22.

In other games, Providence topped DePaul 71-60, Oklahoma City ripped Denver 100-86, Kansas State tripped Creighton 85-75, Colorado dropped Missouri 79-76 in overtime and Georgia Tech whipped Jacksonville 97-77.

Big 10 Basketball Race Gets Tight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
One thing is certain. The Big Ten basketball race isn't a run-away this year.

Ohio State's hopes for a title were slowed down Monday night when the Buckeyes dropped an 86-78 decision to Wisconsin on the Badgers floor.

The Buckeyes still hold a shaky lead in the conference with a 6-2 mark. But they could be joined at the top tonight if Northwestern beats Minnesota.

Northwestern and Iowa are right behind Ohio State with 5-2 records, followed by Illinois, 4-2. Wisconsin put itself back in the picture, upping its conference slate to 5-3.

Ohio State has six conference games left, three at home and three on the road. The next game is at Minnesota Saturday.

All five of Wisconsin's starters scored in double figures, led by Joe Franklin with 23. The Badgers repaid Ohio State for an earlier 86-64 defeat suffered in Columbus.

Ohio State learned that Bill Hosket is okay after suffering a knee injury Saturday. The big forward topped the Buckeye scoring with 23 points.

Elsewhere in Ohio college action,

Ohio University put together back-to-back victories for the first time this season as the Bobcats dumped Northern Illinois 85-76 at Athens. Gerald McKee sparked the Bobcats with 30 points.

Xavier continued its string of bad luck, losing to Fairfield, Conn., 64-60. Fairfield led from the start in handing Xavier its 14th defeat against eight victories. Zohn Zeides had 20 points for the Muskies.

Heidelberg, led by Paul Brown with 20 points, upset DePue, 79-66. Oakland City, Ind. beat Wilberforce 105-92. West Liberty State defeated Steubenville 81-66 and Alliance, Pa., whipped Cleveland State 71-58.

Man Starts Golf Tour At Age 54

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — At the sometimes-brittle age of 54, one might not think of Client Kennedy as a rookie. But he is.

Kennedy is the newest addition to the Professional Golf Association's touring pros. And how would you feel joining the swinging ranks of the Palmers and Nicklaus' at that age?

"I have no idea how I'll do," the rotund Kennedy said.

"In fact, I never know how I'm going to play when I walk on the first tee."

But Kennedy, a Virginia native who has been associated with golf clubs and driving ranges in the Wilmington area for 20 years, has a $5,000 grubstake and is making a beeline for the Phoenix Open.

The wry, longball-hitting Kennedy, who speaks slowly with a drawl, has an angel who is backing him on the tour. But he must remain anonymous.

Kennedy cannot identify "the other man" other than to say: "He's a member at Pebble Beach in California, and he's nuts. He's got to be crazy to back me."

"But I wasn't about to turn the man down when he offered to back me," he added.

Kennedy and "the man" met as partners in the national seniors program last year in Las Vegas.

Lonborg Recovery Right on Schedule

BOSTON (AP) — Jim Lonborg's progress in recovering from surgery to repair knee damage suffered in a skiing accident is right on schedule.

The Boston Red Sox ace right-hander had a smaller cast placed on his left leg Monday, then donned a sock and shoe for the first time in six weeks and cast aside his crutches.

Although doctors figure that Lonborg will not be available for full-time pitching duty until mid-May, he said he hopes he'll be ready sooner.

Miami Beach Expects GOP Convention To Be Smooth

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Accustomed to handling millions of tourists a year, this famed resort city felt no qualms when it was called upon for the first time to host a national political convention. It expects the big Republican gathering in August to come off smoothly and peacefully.

There are many reasons to doubt that a threat of massive demonstrations—like that hanging over the Democratic Convention at Chicago—will ever materialize here.

Perhaps the most important, says Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, is that "the Democratic party—the party in power—will bear the brunt of the discontent."

U.S. Won't Stop B52 War Patrols

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States asserts it must continue patrol flights by nuclear-armed bombers to meet "the threat posed by Soviet nuclear forces."

State Department press officer Carl Bartch, replying publicly to a Soviet protest, said Monday the United States deeply regrets the Jan. 21 crash of a B52 bomber in Greenland in which four hydrogen bombs were lost.

"But what we regret even more," Bartch said, "is that world tensions make necessary the carrying out of such flights in the interest of collective security against the threat posed by Soviet nuclear forces."

One argument of the Soviet protest delivered Saturday to the State Department was that development of long-range missiles with nuclear warheads have made such bomber patrols unnecessary.

Bartch said the U.S. reply implies disagreement that missiles have made the bomber patrols obsolete.

Israeli Tourist Trade Is Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Middle East war reduced Israel's tourist traffic 11 per cent in 1967, the Central Bureau of Statistics reports.

The bureau said 291,000 tourists visited Israel last year compared with 328,000 in 1966. The biggest decline was in the number from the European continent. The smallest decline was in those from America and Britain.

But there are other reasons. The Miami area has remained remarkably free of racial strife. In the melting pot of Miami Beach, minority groups have always enjoyed good relations with each other.

And Miami Beach, accustomed to a big annual influx of tourists, is expected to take the anticipated 50,000 political visitors in stride.

"People there are experts in getting along with millions of visitors," says City Manager Jack Duffield. "It will be a routine and normal situation."

Immediately after the city was chosen as the site of the convention, which opens Aug. 5, Pomerance put out lines to federal and state agencies and civil rights organizations all over the country, seeking clues to any possible disturbances. All replies were negative.

Marin Davies, Florida field director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, put it this way:

"We may protest against the ignoring of the Negro by the Republican party, but it will be a peaceful protest. There won't be any trouble. Negroes in the South have not developed the extreme hostilities of those in the North."

Pomerance does not plan to beef up the Miami Beach police force. But he has been offered full cooperation by the Dade County sheriff's office and police of all municipalities in the county. Officers trained in crowd control will be hand-picked from these forces.

Mayor Jay Dermer has launched a courtesy training program for everyone who will deal with the visitors, from the porters at the airport to the waiters and bellhops in the hotels.

The site of the convention will be convention hall. While he expects no large demonstrations, Dermer points out that Miami Beach, on an island and joined to the mainland only by six causeways, would be in a unique position to handle them.

"If we raised the drawbridges," he said, "there would be no way in or out except by boat. We would be like an old English castle with moats."

Exhaust Gases May Alter Earth Climate

EDITOR'S NOTE—In his effort to go faster and higher, man may be setting in motion forces which will change the environment of the earth he inhabits. What is concerning scientists and what they see for the future is outlined in the following second of five articles on what man is doing to his surroundings.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Rockets, spewing out exhausts, are launching men and instruments laboratories out to explore space. Inevitably, many more will soar up.

And the future promises fleets of supersonic transport—SST—airplanes, flying so high and fast they shrink the world in time for their passengers, also releasing clouds of exhaust particles at extremely high altitudes.

A consequent cost from both might be:

—The partial drowning of New York, London, Tokyo, and other cities and land on low-lying coastal areas around the world—because the earth's climate warms up and all the ice caps melt.

—Or the freezing grip of a new Ice Age creeping over the world—because the earth's climate cools down.

Serious scientists are speculating and making calculations about both possibilities that might result from long-lingering exhaust particles thrust up into the high, thin atmosphere.

They are not predicting that either of these man-caused disasters will happen. Remedial steps could be taken if they threatened.

The great significance of their concern is that now—after past bitter experiences—men are taking a new kind of prudent and protective look at the earth's environment, before the act, rather than after.

The scientists have reason to believe that a relatively small concentration of gaseous or solid particles, only thousands of an inch in size, could alter the earth's climate.

If they were mostly of one given size, they would reflect more of the sun's incoming heat back into space, while allowing more of the earth's heat, the earth is always radiating heat outward, to escape into space. Result: a cooling of the earth, and in time a new Ice Age.

If of a different size, the particle umbrella would allow more of the sun's heat to reach the earth's surface, while holding in more of the earth's outgoing radiation. Result: a warming up that could melt the polar ice caps, thus raising ocean levels by 200 to 250 feet, by some calculations.

Scientists interviewed on this subject say they are not yet agreed on what concentration of exhaust particles would affect world climate, and in just which direction. They are using computers to help check out the theories.

They do agree that there would be no danger except through a combination of exhaust particles from both space-age rockets, and many SST or supersonic jet flights.

The reassurance is that if a potential threat began occurring, and could be recognized, the rocket of jet flights could be limited in numbers until some of the particles fell to the ground.

Among atmospheric scientists, there is increasing awareness that small alterations affecting the intricate mechanisms controlling climate and weather might trigger great and perhaps undesirable effects.

Daily, for example, hundreds of jet planes crisscross the nation or great parts of it, often leaving fluffy contrails of water vapor, manmade clouds, as signature of their passage.

Some contrails soon dissipate. Others turn into or are soon followed by high cirrus clouds that can and do influence the earth's heat balance with the sun.

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, director of the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo., is one who wonders whether these manmade clouds may trigger changes in local or distant weather.

Depending on circumstances, the cirrus clouds might warm or cool the earth below by one to a few degrees.

Natural cirrus clouds apparently can deflect the jet stream at times, which can vastly affect weather elsewhere. Might, he wonders, cirrus clouds born of contrails form at critical times to do the same thing? Dr. Roberts and others think the possibility merits real investigation.

at a latitude of 70,000 to 80,000 feet.

In a few years, supersonic jets will be flying at this altitude, Dr. Komhyr of the Environmental Science Services Administration—ESSA—in Boulder points out. Their exhausts throw out carbon, which is an efficient catalyst or agent to destroy ozone.

"This could become a real problem when there are many such flights," Dr. Komhyr says. Jets might destroy enough ozone to permit a harmful increase in ultraviolet light reaching earth, or cause other effects.

ESSA and other organizations, therefore, are seeking "benchmark" measurements of normal levels and fluctuations of ozone. These could serve as a warning system if human activities began to produce adverse effects, Dr. Komhyr explains.

Natural mechanisms that determine weather and climate are intricate and complex, but vigorous research here and abroad is beginning to unravel some mysteries. Much of the knowledge still is speculative, Dr. Roberts says, but in time the human effects on weather and the natural mechanisms will become clear.

Such understandings might allow man to alter his weather artificially.

But scientists are wary about rushing into experiments yet. Producing the rain desired in one area might produce devastating drought elsewhere.

So meanwhile their goal is to seek facts, to check theories, and use computers to create simulated models of the weather—and ask the computers what would happen in nature's mysterious chain-reaction weather box if they put one influence in, or took one out.

This is insurance against creating, inadvertently, a crisis or disaster in the world's climate and weather, such as is happening with the air humans breathe.

Miami Beach Expects GOP Convention To Be Smooth

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Accustomed to handling millions of tourists a year, this famed resort city felt no qualms when it was called upon for the first time to host a national political convention. It expects the big Republican gathering in August to come off smoothly and peacefully.

There are many reasons to doubt that a threat of massive demonstrations—like that hanging over the Democratic Convention at Chicago—will ever materialize here.

Perhaps the most important, says Police Chief Rocky Pomerance, is that "the Democratic party—the party in power—will bear the brunt of the discontent."

U.S. Won't Stop B52 War Patrols

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States asserts it must continue patrol flights by nuclear-armed bombers to meet "the threat posed by Soviet nuclear forces."

State Department press officer Carl Barth, replying publicly to a Soviet protest, said Monday the United States deeply regrets the Jan. 21 crash of a B52 bomber in Greenland in which four hydrogen bombs were lost.

"But what we regret even more," Barth said, "is that world tensions make necessary the carrying out of such flights in the interest of collective security against the threat posed by Soviet nuclear forces."

One argument of the Soviet protest delivered Saturday to the State Department was that development of long-range missiles with nuclear warheads have made such bomber patrols unnecessary.

Barth said the U.S. reply implies disagreement that missiles have made the bomber patrols obsolete.

Israeli Tourist Trade Is Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — The Middle East war reduced Israel's tourist traffic 11 per cent in 1967, the Central Bureau of Statistics reports.

The bureau said 291,000 tourists visited Israel last year compared with 328,000 in 1966. The biggest decline was in the number from the European continent. The smallest decline was in those from America and Britain.

Exhaust Gases May Alter Earth Climate

EDITOR'S NOTE—In his effort to go faster and higher, man may be setting in motion forces which will change the environment of the earth he inhabits. What is concerning scientists and what they see for the future is outlined in the following second of five articles on what man is doing to his surroundings.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Writer

Rockets, spewing out exhausts, are launching men and instrumented laboratories out to explore space. Inevitably, many more will soar up.

And the future promises fleets of supersonic transport—SST—airplanes, flying so high and fast they shrink the world in time for their passengers, also releasing clouds of exhaust particles at extremely high altitudes.

A consequent cost from both might be:

—The partial drowning of New York, London, Tokyo, and other cities and land on low-lying coastal areas around the world—because the earth's climate warms up and all the ice caps melt.

—Or the freezing grip of a new Ice Age creeping over the world—because the earth's climate cools down.

Serious scientists are speculating and making calculations about both possibilities that might result from long-lurking exhaust particles thrust up into the high, thin atmosphere.

They are not predicting that either of these man-caused disasters will happen. Remedial steps could be taken if they threatened.

The great significance of their concern is that now—after past bitter experiences—men are taking a new kind of prudent and protective look at the earth's environment, before the act, rather than after.

The scientists have reason to believe that a relatively small concentration of gaseous or solid particles, only thousands of an inch in size, could alter the earth's climate.

If they were mostly of one given size, they would reflect more of the sun's incoming heat back into space, while allowing more of the earth's heat, the earth is always radiating heat outward, to escape into space. Result: a cooling of the earth, and in time a new Ice Age.

If of a different size, the particle umbrella would allow more of the sun's heat to reach the earth's surface, while holding in more of the earth's outgoing radiation. Result: a warming up that could melt the polar ice caps, thus raising ocean levels by 200 to 250 feet, by some calculations.

Scientists interviewed on this subject say they are not yet agreed on what concentration of exhaust particles would affect world climate, and in just which direction. They are using computers to help check out the theories.

They do agree that there would be no danger except through a combination of exhaust particles from both space-age rockets, and many SST or supersonic jet flights.

The reassurance is that if a potential threat began occurring, and could be recognized, the rocket of jet flights could be limited in numbers until some of the particles fell to the ground.

Among atmospheric scientists, there is increasing awareness that small alterations affecting the intricate mechanisms controlling climate and weather might trigger great and perhaps undesirable effects.

Daily, for example, hundreds of jet planes crisscross the nation or great parts of it, often leaving fluffy contrails of water vapor, manmade clouds, as signature of their passage.

Some contrails soon dissipate. Others turn into or are soon followed by high cirrus clouds that can and do influence the earth's heat balance with the sun.

Dr. Walter Orr Roberts, director of the National Center for Atmospheric Research in Boulder, Colo., is one who wonders whether these manmade clouds may trigger changes in local or distant weather.

Depending on circumstances, the cirrus clouds might warm or cool the earth below by one to a few degrees.

Natural cirrus clouds apparently can deflect the jet stream at times, which can vastly affect weather elsewhere. Might, he wonders, cirrus clouds born of contrails form at critical times to do the same thing? Dr. Roberts and others think the possibility merits real investigation.
